BREAKOUT SESSIONS

A. Nevada Future of Learning Network

Presenters: Jeanine Collins, Laura Hilger, Pam Moran, Ira Socol

Location: Sand Harbor III

We invite you to connect with and learn alongside educators and learner-centered practitioners who've been co-designing and building the Portrait of a Nevada Learner over the past six months. In this session, you'll hear about the progress of the state's Future of Learning work, engage with the final Portrait of a Nevada Learner, connect with educators who are piloting work across 14 state teams, and consider how you can get involved to shape the future of learning.

B. Introducing Benefits-Based Accountability

Presenter: John Tanner, BravED

Location: Tahoe A

In this session John Tanner, founder of bravEd and the Benefits-Based Accountability movement, will answer two fundamental questions:

- 1. Why will test-based accountability never meet a single stated policy goal?
- What will

As an outcome you will walk away with a sense of how to finally solve one of the most challenging problems educators have been facing for a great many years.

C. It's About People, Not Programs: Leveraging Support to Build Principal Capacity

Presenters: Dr. Deanna Jaskolski, Dr. Lindsay Prendergast, Corbin Edginton, NWEA & Clark County School District

Location: Tahoe B

Emerging from the pandemic has presented immense challenges for districts everywhere, and Clark County, NV (CCSD) – 5th largest district in the country – is no exception. How, then, could the district best meet the needs of its schools serving some of the most at-risk populations to rise to the challenge and beat the odds? District leaders and a partner organization, NWEA, have designed an innovative approach by providing through-year, differentiated, and embedded professional learning supports to principals with the goal of building capacity and yielding improvements to student learning outcomes. Learn the key features of the support provided, how it has been implemented effectively, and what gains have resulted from these efforts.

D. Mindful Leadership and Equitable Approaches for Healthier School Communities

Presenters: Jenean Fear, Care Solace

Location: Sand Harbor II

Join to learn how district leaders from across the country are leveraging various resources to create equitable approaches to identify, intervene and serve mental health needs in their communities. Care Solace will spotlight promising practices and mental health models from district partners and encourage participants to share their strategies for improving mental health in our schools, communities, and ourselves. Hear how Care Solace helps districts address mental health needs that exceed the scope or schedule of school-based services, including staff and family wellness. Our session will be Interactive, reflective, and experiential. We will utilize a variety of adult learning theory methods to engage the participants, including discussion and collaboration around problems of practice. The presenters will also share case studies with promising practices from school systems across the country and invite participants to share their knowledge and expertise with each other. We will make all the materials accessible to participants before and after the session.

E. Great Boards, "Connectedness equates to Effectiveness"

Presenter: Dr. James "Marty" Schafer, FranklinCovey, Board Consultant

Location: Tahoe C

Research tells us that when the Superintendent and Board aren't working together as a highly effective team that student achievement suffers, and the community loses confidence in the district. Based on content from FranklinCovey's work with Fortune 100/500 companies, and facilitated by Dr. Marty Schafer, a 18-year veteran school board president (whose tenure includes being "School Board of the year and Board of Distinction" for 6 years,) this session will help superintendents gain clarity about how to work with their boards in highly effective ways, leading to:

- Increasing Superintendent tenure,
- Retaining/recruiting quality Board Members,
- · Renewing community confidence in the District
